"Every year, up to 80 companies of all sizes enter 10,000 employees of all ages and athletic abilities as players in 26 events held over six weeks—'Just for the fun of it!'" states event coordinator and founder Eric Burton, Adult Sports Supervisor for the City of Ventura Department of Parks, Recreation and Community Partnerships, which hosts Corporate Games.

"Corporate Games, now in its 28th year, has a proven track record as a wise investment in every company's most important resource—its employees. It is THE fun way to build your team as your players develop more camaraderie and better relationships through teamwork, while they receive the lasting benefits of improved fitness and wellness, increased productivity and more company spirit and unity."
