Ventura Restaurant Week, January 13 – 19, celebrates fine local cuisine and offers discounted prices, special menus to encourage “foodie” visits

More than 30 local restaurants are participating in the 4th annual Ventura Restaurant Week -- a celebration of fine cuisine offered at a discounted price, and a special 3-course fixed price menu at some locations. Reservations are encouraged and the full list of participating restaurants is available at www.cityofventura.net/rw.

Diners can discover new restaurants and enjoy favorites with a 20% discount for food items purchased with an entrée. Also, the first 300 Restaurant Week customers can enter to win raffle prizes of $25 gift cards from participating restaurants.

Statewide, many cities – from San Diego to San Francisco -- are also participating in California Restaurant Week as a way “to support mom and pop independent restaurants,” said Community Development Director Jeffrey Lambert.

Ventura is fortunate to have excellent local produce, organic crops, handcrafted breweries and fresh seafood, as well as some of the most acclaimed chefs in Southern California.
