Voluntary Evacuation Orders Lifted for All Areas in the City of Ventura

Voluntary evacuation orders that were issued due to the recent storm are no longer in effect for all areas of Ventura. While the majority of the storm has pushed through Ventura County, the City reminds residents on the westside that they remain in an area that is always at risk based on the geology of the hillside. Residents should remain vigilant, be aware of changing conditions and report any issues to 911.
